Mayor's Report to Elected Members – April 2018

Foreword

When the Minister for Greater Christchurch Regeneration, Hon Dr Megan Woods, was informed that the Metro Sports facility was more than $75M over budget, she promised to make an announcement on what would be done by the end of the month. She has been good to her word and we're on our way. Our staff have worked hard to strip over $50M from the budget, and I'm confident we can do better. There were a lot of elements that were not required, so the functionality is all there and it will still look great! And it's back on track for a 2021 opening.

Golden Oldies

April was the month-long Christchurch Casino Golden Oldies sports celebration of Fun, Fraternity & Friendship, bringing together 5,000 people from 16 countries playing 6 different sports. Each week started with a parade of nations. It was also a great chance to show-case what is happening in Christchurch, as well as showing off some of the region's great attractions.

Watershed 2018

The establishment of the Canterbury Water Management Strategy in 2009 was a watershed moment in our region's history. The CWMS emerged from a time that could have been described as "the water wars" as different interests contested their access to water through the courts - we needed a circuit breaker - we needed to do things differently. It was led by the Canterbury Mayoral Forum, with Ngai Tahu at the table. This meeting was another watershed, bringing together all the zone committees and the city, district and region representatives. I acknowledged the efforts of the councils throughout Canterbury, Te Runanga o Ngāi Tahu, as well as industry, NGO's and research institutions and our communities for taking on this challenge.

Connetics

We visited the new Connetics site at the Waterloo industrial park, which has been built with resilience in mind, both in terms of serving the city and Selwyn District but also being available to serve the wider region at a time of crisis. It was very impressive and I was happy to cut the cake.

Meeting Hon Phil Twyford Minister of Transport & Housing

The Minister emphasised the critical importance of long-term planning in transport, the significance of public and active transport and the need to fully integrate transport with urban development. We congratulated him on the renewed emphasis on public transport, urban cycleways and safety improvements on urban and regional roads. We highlighted the challenges of the current model for delivering public transport. We need to design an integrated & reliable public transport system, responsive to the needs of citizens, and which is capable of adapting quickly to new technologies and systems.

We talked about how we would like to partner with him to achieve our shared goals in building social and affordable housing. We believe we have the capacity to assist the Kiwibuild programme. Otautahi Community Housing Trust was established to access the Income Related Rental Subsidy, which are required for affordable rents. That being said, we are more than satisfied with the model that brings agencies together to support people in their homes.

ANZAC DAY

It was another extraordinary turnout at the Dawn Service and later at the Citizens Service in the Transitional Cathedral. We come together to commit to peace—that's how we honour those who died and that's why we remember them

The Local Government Road Safety Summit 9 April attended by Cr Mike Davidson

The opening address delivered by Minister Genter was an open session to the media, setting out her vision for road safety in New Zealand. Some of the key points from the address were:

- The government is no longer talking about a road toll - now road deaths
- In 2016 there were over 2500 serious injuries on our roads
- 70% of serious road crashes come from simple mistakes
- Local roads had over half the deaths and injuries
- The RONS meant 25% of the road budget went into 5% of used road
- 50% of people travel on local roads but only received 30% of funding
- Improvements that help safety – Rumble strips, Wire mediums, Speed reductions.
- Ambitious targets drive policy—Vision Zero in Canada, Norway, Sweden (20 yrs ago Sweden had same rate of road deaths as NZ)
- Guiding principle for Central & Local Government is shared responsibilities

Draft Government Policy Statement (GPS) on Land Transport Summit 16 April attended by Crs Cotter, Templeton & Davidson

The Summit on the draft GPS was very worthwhile. Ministers Twyford, Jones and Genter, along with the CE's of the Ministry and NZTA, were really engaged in the process taking note of what was said - it clearly wasn't simply a 'tick the box' day with stakeholders. Throughout the day panel discussions were held on road safety, city transport, freight and transport in the regions. Panellists, including Cr Sara Templeton, highlighted the key issues facing each of the areas, possible solutions and answered questions from the floor. The summit started with an overview of the draft and its intentions by Minister Twyford, and then Associate Minister Genter gave an overview of the reasons behind the shift in direction. There was interesting data on the safety of our local roads (65% of deaths and serious injuries) and use of the roads (51% of all distance travelled in NZ is on local roads) gave a clear reason for the shift in funding away from the few Roads of National Significance that took up $11B for only seven roads. The message was that we need to lift all roads to a modern safety standard, not just these seven. This is good news for Christchurch, where our local roads need significant work as do many of our intersections. This should allow us to get more work done and sooner.

Between 2012 and 2016, 65% of deaths and serious injuries occurred on our local roads and 35% on state highways - and with $800m of safety improvement urgently needed this is now the top priority for the government as it could save 150 lives. Minister Twyford committed to 'more affordable and more frequent public transport' and a mode-neutral approach to choosing 'the best project that will make the most difference' in any given area.

This GPS will be finalised and out in June, but the intention is to update it next year. The next one will go further with increased focus on rail and coastal shipping, as well as integrating the new climate change legislation objectives.

"Road traffic deaths and injuries are not 'accidents'. They are the direct consequence of system failure and political choices...when political will is focused on ending needless roads deaths, lives can be saved quickly..." Saul Billingsley, Executive Director of the FIA Foundation (March 2018)

External meetings

Greater Christchurch Partnership Committee (formerly UDSIC), 13 April 2018 with Crs Phil Clearwater and Sara Templeton.

This month the Greater Christchurch Partnership had an opportunity to meet with Hon Phil Twyford, Minister for Transport and Housing and Hon Dr Megan Woods, Minister for Greater Christchurch Regeneration. This was a great opportunity for the Partnership to discuss issues faced by Greater Christchurch directly with Ministers. The areas of discussion focussed on local leadership, urban development, transport, regeneration and resilience, kaitiakitanga and wellbeing.

Greater Christchurch Public Transport Joint Committee Workshop, 18 April 2018 with Crs Pauline Cotter and Mike Davidson.

The Joint Public transport Committee discussed the opportunities that the new Government Policy Statement on Public Transport and the Investment Assessment Framework presented in terms of progressing public transport. The Committee agreed to make a submission on the GPS with specific attention to the public transport elements.

Officers presented an update on the work to date on the revised Regional Public Transport Plan and timelines were discussed on expectation on the members time in terms of review and feedback on the draft document. The draft plan is scheduled for public consultation in August 2018.

Routes 29 and 85 are scheduled for a WIFI Trial starting 1 May 2018.
